Chosen Priority and Why

Middle Tennessee can lead the Creative Entertainment economy by turning Music City into a full-scale cluster for content, live experience, production, technology, talent, and intellectual property. The strategic shift is from “Come visit Music City” to “Build your company, career, content, technology, production operation, and IP here.”

Evidence 1

The ecosystem exists, but music, sports, tourism, film, production, technology, education, and capital are not yet consistently linked as one cluster.

Evidence 2

The biggest white spaces are cross-cutting issues: AI/IP, rights, royalties, creative workforce, supplier mapping, inclusive pathways, and aligned capital.

Evidence 3

A neutral broker strengthens existing organizations rather than replacing the Chamber, CVB, universities, venues, Music Row groups, or entrepreneur networks.

- Avg Local Entertainment and Media income for Nashville Region is below US Avg
- 2013-20: Economic impact grew 43%, #1 among top us music metro areas for both net job growth and growth rate
- Nash already has unusually dense emp. 7.8 music cluster jobs per 1000 jobs (vs 2.8 NY, 2.6 Austin, and 2.0 LA), makes startup support more productive - all allied employers like talent lawyers, studios, venues, etc in very close proximity
- Well-established formal talent pipeline in the industry at Belmont, MTSU, Vanderbilt, TSU, Nashville State, Lipscomb, Fisk

Looking Ahead

Future-state vision

Nashville is where the World comes to create, produce, protect, finance, stage, and export the next generation of Creative Entertainment and live experiences.

Call to Action

- Endorsement of the Creative Entertainment Council
- Invitees join an interim Council within 30 days.
- Obtain commitments from named partners to five working groups: AI/IP, production workforce, creative capital, live experience, and inclusive pathways.
- Industry leaders contribute data, pilot sites, employer needs, funding leads, and public/private champions.

Thank You
